How did you hear about Santa Rita Landscaping? _____

Place an X in the box if you will live in your home: Full-time Part-time

If you are a part-time resident, please place an X in the box above the months of the year you will be in your home?

Jan. Feb. Mar. Apr. May Jun. Jul. Aug. Sep. Oct. Nov Dec.

1. Please choose the look or design (see below) that would best describe your style preference for the exterior of your home. You may wish to consider the style of the interior/exterior of your home. Place an X in the box next to your choice.

Southwest / Santa Fe — This look is a combination of native desert plants, such as cactus, agaves, and succulents with the addition of lots of wildflowers, blooming shrubs and evergreen plants. These plants appear randomly placed. The look is very natural and unintentional, but in fact it is a very well planned landscape design.

Mediterranean / Southern California — This look provides lots of color for those who miss the green. Plants that would be used would include palms, yuccas, agaves and bougainvilleas. Expect trellises and sun screening, with lots of citrus and plants that are going to stay green year round.

Native Desert — Xeriscaping!!! Here we have only native desert plants and trees. This is a great choice if you are looking for low maintenance and keeping things uncomplicated. Vibrant color from cactus and tree blooms.

Modern / Contemporary — Keeping it clean, with straight lines, architectural forms and repetition. This is great for what is going on with the more modern designed homes. This look is disciplined, yet is highly individualistic in style. Easily maintained, this landscape would meet the requirements of busy professional persons.

- Japanese Influence — Invoking serenity characterizes most Japanese gardens. The effect of Japanese gardening depends partly on the dramatic contrast of scale and simplicity in spatial planting. When planning an evergreen garden of this kind it is important to compensate for the limited color scheme by using a wide range of different shades of green, sculptures, water features and rock formations, these are typically as focal points.
- English Garden — Stylized from the past but holds its weight now and for the future. Formal gardens have affinities with both sculpture and architecture. Lots of green symmetry and well planned gardens. Pruning in shapes and using the same color in the sections. Symbolism, often closely related to formal patterns in historic gardens, made more personal by being creative.
